FAYETTE COUNTY...Professional Business Support for International Companies

Fayette County has built a solid reputation on our willingness to assist international firms as small as one person seeking US market entry for the first time, or as large as Japanese powerhouse Panasonic, now our largest employer. Professional service, both during your relocation and most importantly, after your move, has helped make Fayette County Atlanta's most internationally business friendly suburb.

Fayette County has long been considered Atlanta's "live, play, work" address, attracting hundreds of domestic and international companies looking for the right mix of recreation, housing and business amenities.

Our planned communities are the nation's safest, and our business and industrial parks are the most attractive in the Southeast. Our alternative transportation cart paths connect each business, school and neighborhood in Peachtree City providing a peaceful alternative for transportation and recreation. Our Foreign Trade Zone is one of only five in Georgia and offers importers and exporters significant savings on duties. Cities like Fayetteville, Tyrone, Brooks and Woolsey offer history, location and large residential housing opportunities at affordable prices. International companies flock to our small and selective address because of our proximity to Hartsfield-Jackson International Airport, our award winning schools, our own local corporate jet airport, our existing industry support services, our recreation and entertainment outlets as well as our abundant greenspace.

Our plug and play philosophy makes it easy for a new company to move in, set up their business, become involved in the International Society or a host of local civic clubs, find their way around, feel safe and meet their neighbors.

The Fayette County Development Authority specializes in professional assistance for:

- small companies just entering the US market with 1 to 5 employees that need professional service provided space or Class A office,
- medium sized office and technology manufactures looking for multi-tenant space near the airport and near major transportation corridors, and
- major "clean/green" corporate relocations in need of build-to-suit greenspace in an attractive and highly visible market when image is important.

The links on this website are offered as an introduction to the resources you'll need if you relocate to our region or community. We can also, upon request, provide contact information for international bank specialist, consultants, contractors, brokers, real estate agents as well as governmental support for immigration needs.

Our staff stands ready to assist you at no cost and can be contacted by email or by direct call. All correspondence is confidential as are site visits that can be hosted by our office. Our CEO, Brian Cardoza and his team, are also available to travel to your headquarters for a more in-depth discussion of your needs.

INTERNATIONAL SUPPORT SERVICES/OFFICES

The Georgia Department of Industry, Trade and Tourism notes that "Georgia is the 4th fastest growing state in the U.S., and the Southeast is the country's fastest growing region. Approximately one million people relocated to our state between 1990-2000 and 380,000 new residents are expected to call Georgia home by 2005. With more than 50 million residents, the Southeast U.S. is projected to remain the fastest growing market of the U.S. into the 21st century. Georgia provides immediate access to the region's largest consumer markets; almost 10% of the consumer population in the Southeast lives in Metro Atlanta.

"Eighty percent of the U.S. population is within a two-hour flight, and Hartsfield Atlanta International Airport (the world's busiest passenger airport) has daily non-stop flights to Europe, Asia, and throughout the Americas. By truck, Georgia-based companies are two days or less from 82% of the U.S. industrial market and 79% of the largest consumer markets. A strong infrastructure makes reaching those destinations easy.

"Georgia is the Southeast's center for world trade and international business. Atlanta is host to 49 countries' consular offices and trade and investment agencies.

"Consulates are established by foreign governments 1) to officially develop economic, commercial, scientific and cultural relations between the country they represent and the area in which they serve, and 2) to safeguard the interests of the sending country and its citizens traveling or residing in their consular district. Traditionally these duties include issuing and renewing passports and other official documents, helping travelers in distress, signing death certificates, legalizing or delivering official documents, and assisting travelers who have trouble with local law enforcement or immigration authorities."

The convenient location of these offices and support structures makes the business relocation transition for large and small companies easier.
